

37th Annual Ohio Logistics Brad Doty Classic Won by Carson Macedo

From WorldOfOutlaws.com

You name it, and it likely happened at the 2025 Ohio Logistics Brad Doty Classic.

Tuesday night at Attica Raceway Park will be one fans are talking about for a long time. Four different leaders. Charges through the field. Intense battles for the top spot. Leaders spinning. Once the green flag flew, the World of Outlaws NOS Energy Drink Sprint Car Series action was endless.

Early on Michael "Buddy" Kofoid took command. Traffic allowed polesitter Kyle Larson to snatch the lead for two laps before Kofoid reclaimed it. Sheldon Haudenschild then surged into contention, and he and Kofoid nearly made contact as Kofoid tripped on the Turn 4 cushion and did a 360. That allowed Haudenschild to take the lead, but heartbreak hit the Wooster, OH native with four laps remaining as the cushion also bit him and he spun after looking destined to win.

After all that calamity, it was Carson Macedo inheriting P1 due to Haudenschild's spin. The Lemoore, CA native started back in eighth and made his way forward with some daring moves that included a three-wide pass to steal third. After getting to the runner-up spot, Haudenschild gave Macedo a gift, and he had no plans of giving it back.

Macedo ripped ahead on the restart. Kofoid gave him one brief challenge in an effort at redemption, but he couldn't find enough speed. The Jason Johnson Racing pilot held on and added his name to the history books as a Brad Doty Classic winner.

"I really felt like I was running pretty hard on the top, about as hard as I could and maybe even overdriving it," Macedo said. "But Sheldon was driving like four times harder than me, so I actually backed it down thinking maybe something would happen. He almost got over the edge one time in (Turns) 1 and 2. Then he ended up getting over the curb. I mean, it was no fault of his own. He was doing a great job, just really tricky and treacherous and easy to get over it. It was kind of marbly really, and that's why guys were able to slide and almost clear you.

The victory is the sixth of the 2025 campaign for Macedo and his second in the last three races. The 29-year-old became the 26th different winner of "The Doty" since the event first began in 1989. He joined Tyler Walker, Jason Meyers, and Kyle Larson as the fourth Californian to come out on top. He had won at Attica with FAST in 2017 and the All Star Circuit of Champions (ASCoC) in 2018, but Tuesday was his first at the 1/3 mile with The Greatest Show on Dirt.

The runner-up spot went to Buddy Kofoid after he led the most laps aboard the Roth Motorsports No. 83. The Penn Grove, CA native will no doubt be left thinking what could've been after having such a strong car and spinning while fighting for the lead with Haudenschild. Even with looping it, Kofoid still salvaged his ninth consecutive podium

Interesting Ohio History

William Howard Taft, the 27th President of the United States, was born and raised in Cincinnati, OH. As President, Taft focused on trust-busting, tariff reform, civil service reform, and environmental conservation. He also played a crucial role in the establishment of the Department of Labor. In 1921, President Warren G. Harding nominated him for the position he had long coveted - Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Taft accepted the appointment, becoming the only person in history to have held both the presidency and the position of Chief Justice.

as he continues to build momentum.

The final position on the podium went to Donny Schatz after a remarkable charge toward the front. The 10-time Series champion took the Tony Stewart/Curb Agajanian Racing No. 15 from 16th to third. It marked the second straight season he's marched from outside the top 10 to the podium.

Be Safe Out There

By Ohio Logistics' Safety Manager, Nate Frasure

A tragic incident at a Connecticut auto dealership has once again highlighted the importance of following proper forklift safety procedures, especially when parking on an incline.

A 33-year-old parts manager was fatally injured when a forklift he had exited began rolling backward on a sloped driveway. According to reports, the man attempted to stop the moving forklift with his hands but was pinned between the forklift and a nearby truck. He later died from his injuries at a local hospital.

OSHA is still currently investigating the incident and is reviewing whether safety procedures were followed. Findings are expected later this year.

How This Could Have Been Prevented:

- Set the Parking Brake: Forklift operators must always set the parking brake when parking, especially on an incline.

- Use Wheel Chocks: Chocking the wheels adds a layer of safety and prevents unintentional rolling, even if the brake is engaged.

- Follow Proper Shutdown Protocols: Operators should never leave a forklift unattended without fully securing it.

- Training Matters: Regular training and refresher courses help reinforce correct procedures, especially in high-risk environments like sloped surfaces.

- Consider Safety Features: Forklifts can be equipped with interlocks or audible alarms that warn operators when the brake is not set (many of our new forklifts have such alarms on them).

This heartbreaking incident is a sobering reminder that even quick tasks can have deadly consequences if basic safety steps are skipped.

Let's stay committed to safety, for ourselves and our teams.

Inflation Math

If a grocery cart worth of food costs $100 in year zero and $200 in year one, you have a 100% inflation rate.

If it costs $300 in year two, inflation has fallen by half, to 50%.

If it costs $400 in year three, inflation is down to 33%.

If it costs $500 in year four, 25%.

Food costs are up 400% from year zero even though inflation has fallen every year and is now just 25%.

Know Your History

The First Amendment, part of the U.S. Constitution's Bill of Rights, protects freedoms of speech, religion, press, assembly, and petition. It limits government power, ensuring citizens can express ideas and beliefs freely, which is essential to democracy and aligns with the Constitution's goal of securing individual liberties.

Test Your Logistics IQ:

1) Light assembly of components or parts into defined units, Kitting reduces the need to maintain an inventory of pre-build, completed products, but increases the time and labor consumed at shipment.

2) A series of generic environmental management standards under development by the International Organization of Standardization which provide structure and systems for managing environmental compliance with legislative and regulatory requirements and affect every aspect of a company's environmental operations.

3) Costs of activities not directly associated with producing or delivering products or services. Examples are the costs of information systems, process engineering, and purchasing.

4) A raw material found at all locations.

Great Stories From America's Past 102 Years Ago This Month

At Comiskey Park, the Yanks are winning a laugher, 16-5, when a dog wanders onto left field in the 9th inning. Babe Ruth briefly plays with the pup, then tosses his mitt to chase it away. The dog promptly grabs the mitt and takes off at the same moment that Sox rookie pitcher Paul Castner lofts a fly to left. Babe casually catches the fly bare handed. August 20, 1923. The dog's name was Hazel.

Meet Cate Robson

Cate is an 11-year Associate and Operations Analyst for our Southern Tier Division. She was kind enough to quickly respond to our questions so that we could learn a little more about her.

OL: Tell us about your family.

Cate: I am married and have six wonderful children.

OL: What's the one thing you look forward to every day?

Cate: Walking into my house after a long day and hearing my kids laughter. I usually get rushed at the door for hugs.

OL: Favorite local restaurant and what do you order?

Cate: Nick's Bar & Grill, the Chicken Speedie Salad with their house made ranch dressing.

OL: What is one of your biggest pet peeves?

Cate: People not taking responsibility for their mistakes.

OL: If you wanted to impress someone with a home-cooked meal, what would you make?

Cate: Meatloaf, mashed potatoes with gravy and green beans!

OL: A three-day weekend and $1,000 just fell in your lap. What's next?

Cate: Packing up the car and heading to the Adirondack's with my husband.

OL: Who has been the greatest influence in your life?

Cate: My kids. They are the reason I strive to be better than I was the day before.
